

SITES OF INTEREST

Books in Print	the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh has discontinued their subscription.	Too costly.
Bibliographies -- note: I have found omissions	http://www.powerlibrary.net/Remote/Remote.asp?ID=eiNetwork&amp;Link=NVL will get you to a site that shows all the novels of a particular author, by date; you can browse or select all kinds of subjects – romance novels, English, for example
Contemporary Authors	biographical details, books in date order (within series if author does multiple). Dead authors count as contemporary. http://www.powerlibrary.net/Remote/Remote.asp?ID=eiNetwork&amp;Link=CA	www.clpgh.org Research Databases Biography
Book Sales elsewhere	national guide; no need to stop "booksaling" when you take a trip. Will also send you e-mails to notify you of sales coming up in your area. See page 6.	www.BookSaleFinder.com
Book Sales elsewhere, H has been purchased by	Lucas at booksaleseout.com e-mailed me to say that his is "the net's most popular-searchable book sale directory". It's just starting up. Sale organizers must enter the data online themselves using forms provided. Its searchability is what's unique.	www.booksaleseout.com
Libraries elsewhere	all public libraries in the USA; organized by counties or cities within states; links to the libraries' own websites.	www.publiclibraries.com
Library of Congress	check especially their "Center for the Book", which has a list of Book Fairs/ Literary Festivals	www.loc.gov
Pennsylvania Antiquarian and Specialist Book Dealers, Restorers, and Binders www.statelibrary.state.pa.us/libraries/cwp/view.asp?a=13&amp;Q=48065
buying books online	don't stop with e-bay or Amazon . there are many sites that offer books from large numbers of dealers or individuals; alibris and abe are for rarer (and more expensive) books. Prices diverge wildly. Condition can also be tricky; one seller will call a book "brand new" and price it high, while another's "almost new" cheaper book will be pristine, obviously never even opened flat.	go to a search engine like Google and type in "used books" and be overwhelmed
free/cheap ads	Craig's List is probably the best known. Has all kinds of forums and subject areas. Can zero in on a specific city. freecycle.com is available in Pittsburgh as well; to join you must offer something free online – after that you may respond to offers Try Googling your own city and "free ads", too.	www.craigslist.com .
download free books	thousands of books in the public domain, put online by volunteers. proofreaders are always needed...you can do as a little as a page a day.	www.gutenberg.org
have you seen dealers in the corner at book sales, scanning bar codes?	This is an ad from one of the companies that offer software or a service to dealers: "Use ScoutPal to find out the Amazon Marketplace value of books, (and CD's, DVD's, etc.) while you are scouting books! You can also check prices from abebooks and PriceGrabber . Learn how it all works at	http://bsf.scoutpal.com
Pittsburgh Authors	A partial list of Children's Authors can be found at: http://www.carnegielibrary.org/kids/booknook/topicbooklists/pghauthors.html#top A list of 654 authors born in Pittsburgh can be found in the Contemporary Authors database referred to above. Once at their home page, click on ADVANCED SEARCH on the left of the page. At Advanced Search, click on the arrow in the top "entry box" and chose Birthplace; then type Pittsburgh in the next box. (There are other choices, such as Death place, Ethnicity, Subject, etc.)
behind the scenes at the Carnegie Library of Pittsburgh	the librarians in the CLP reference department maintain a lively blog at http://eleventhstack.wordpress.com/about/ . see also www.carnegielibrary.org/books/blogs.cfm and the official info about the entire CLP system, including links to other libraries in Allegheny County at www.carnegielibrary.org .
anything else?	tell me about it	